Kueilin Resounds With 3-Day Celebration As He Arrives

WU PEI-FU BALKS

Refuses Take Field To Stop Canton's Northward March On Hunan

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Canton, Dec. 8.—President Sun Yat-sen has arrived at Kueilin. He was enthusiastically received by some 2,000 people, representing 76 organisations, who fired off crackers for three successive nights.

There were present among the crowd a number of foreign ladies and gentlemen and many Chinese ladies.

The President made a lengthy address which was received with much applause. Speeches were also made by General Li Lieh-chun and Hu Han-min, and several others.

Mrs. Sun Yat-sen has gone to Kueilin as the head of the Red Cross Society's workers. It is estimated there there are not less than 50,000 Cantonese troops in Kwangsi, Kueichow and Yunnan.

Upon his arrival at Wuchow, General Tang Chi-yao said that he was greatly in favor of Dr. Sun Yat-sen's plans for the campaign against the North. Dr. Wu Ting-fang had given him, he said, some valuable advice which tended to stir him in the fight. He was going to proceed to Kueilin immediately to join Dr. Sun.

WU PEI-FU CALLS HALT

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Dec 5.—General Wu Pei-fu, in departing from the Paotingfu Conference expressed his disapproval of the program of the conference to begin aggressive campaigning against the South, according to one of his confidential advisers. The General is now in Loyang, where he has declared he will remain for several months to prove to the leaders and the people of China that he will have nothing to do with the projected expedition.

The reason given by General Wu, said his adviser, for his unwillingness to participate in the advance against the south, was that he had no desire to throw General Chen Chiung-ming into the arms of Sun Yat-sen. It is the opinion of General Wu, that as long as the North refrains from aggressive measures against the south, General Chen Chiung-ming, will refrain from aiding Sun Yat-sen in an attack against the north, and will remain in a friendly attitude toward the north. On the other hand, to attack the south would at once unite completely Sun and Chen, in the defence of the southern liberties.

DON'T NEED CHANG

With regard to the further plan of the conference to send the Fengtien troops of General Chang Tso-lin into the Yangtsze Valley, to open the offensive against the south, this is given as one of the reasons for the withdrawal of the General. Wu has declared, said his advisor, that he has a sufficient number of troops in the Yangtsze Valley, to take care of any aggressive actions of the South, and that there is no need for the conference to send any of the Mukden troops down to help him out. With regard to the further plan of Wu being put in command of these Mukden troops, it did not suit the General at all, inasmuch as it would relegate him to the position of a subordinate to Chang Tso-lin.

From semi-governmental sources, it is reported that General Chang Tso-lin and General Wu Pei-fu, parted with a certain understanding, and with better relations between them than had existed in some time past. This was in spite of the unwillingness of Wu to partake in the attack against the south. The Government in Peking,

RECOGNITION IS WITHHELD FROM CHINA'S DELEGATION

Refused Free Entry Of Baggage And Hughes Turns It Aside

WHY TYAU QUIT

Could Not Stand Weak Attitude On Part Of Delegation

(Public Ledger—Trans-Pacific—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, December 7.—The Chinese Delegation has made two unsuccessful attempts to obtain recognition at the Conference.

First, the American authorities flatly refused to grant the members the usual immunity concerning baggage and effects which usually is given persons of semi-diplomatic status.

Then when the heads of the delegation tried to get an audience with Secretary of State Hughes, he refused to see them and shunted them off into the Far Eastern Division of the State Department.

This is in part the reason for the resignation of Mr. Philip Tyau, general secretary of the delegation. He vehemently objected to the personal slight put upon his countrymen, but it is the policy of the delegation that finally roused him to wash his hands of the whole affair.

"Why creep up like beaten hounds to lick the hand that holds the lash," he is reported to have said, regarding the submissive attitude of the delegation, the lash-wielder being understood to be the Japanese.

Undoubtedly, deep dejection has settled down into the hearts of the Chinese who are now saying.

"China is already defeated, so why stay longer."

A crisis in the Shangtung and other Chinese questions is expect in the next few days.

Watch 'Em Close They May Steal Nanking Road Next

Thefts of steamrollers and sawmills, it seems, are not such impressive accomplishments after all. They are totally eclipsed by the larcenies attributed to three coolies who appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday. The list of the loot follows:

15 tons of sand.
30 tons of gravel.
30 tons of granite blocks.
25,000 tiles.

This aggregate, however, is more imposing when considered from the viewpoint of bulk than from its value side. The complainant assesses its worth at but $335. The material was all removed from premises adjoining 828 North Chengtu Road and the case was adjourned a week to enable the police to round up others believed to have been involved. How the stuff was stolen has not yet come out.

Quadruple Entente Will Work To Get Permanent Peace On Pacific Shores

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, December 8.—The Jiji publishes today the draft of the so-called Quadruple Entente to the following effect: "The Governments of Japan, the United States of America, Great Britain, and France, with a view to furthering the happiness of mankind and to securing world peace, have concluded the following provisions:

"Article 2.—The Governments of the high contracting parties pledge themselves to entertain a firm resolution to respect the territorial rights and vested interests enjoyed by any of the Powers concerned in the above mentioned regions.

Japan To Return Tsingtao Property

Washington, D. C. Dec. 7.—Japanese Minister Hanihara announced today that Japan would renounce all preferential rights under the German treaty of 1898 in Tsingtao with reference to special privileges to Japanese officials and merchandise.

Hanihara also suggested that the internal revenue customs be made a part of the Chinese customs, provided that Japanese traders in Tsingtao would be granted the privilege of communicating with the customs in the Japanese language and in the selection of the customs staff due consideration would be given for the divers needs of the Tsingtao trade; which presumably means that a majority of the staff would be Japanese.

Under the terms of the agreement suggested by Hanihara, Japan would waive the customs privileges formerly held by the Germans.

Hanihara explained in an interview today the reason why Japan must retain half of the control of the railways and mines now in her hands. He said that Great Britain or America under similar circumstances would not offer so much. Hanihara stated the Japanese wanted friendly relations with China but said "Japan does not want the railways or mines to fail to function."

The Japanese Minister was emphatic in repeating that Japan had agreed in the general conference to the Open Door.

How Women Ambushed The Erstwhile Political Boss

By Elsie McCormick

The old-time ward boss, with the chewed cigar, the bull neck, the tilted derby, and the Penrose features, who turned American municipal elections into the pleasant game of looking under the shell for the little pea, will soon be as far out of employment as the manufacturer of crinolines.

Maybe that particular type of ward-boss never existed in the first place, any more than the moving-picture prison warden or the sheriff of the Far West. The only prison warden we know is a pale, slender handed individual, weighing 130 pounds, who spends his leisure time writing modern verse instead of in kicking helpless and unjustly convicted prisoners as portrayed by our leading film companies. And we know a Far Western sheriff who employs a good part of his spare time in playing croquet with his little ten-year-old daughter.

DISTORTED BUT REAL

Though it may be that the cartoonists and the movies have likewise distorted the appearance of the typical ward-boss, they at least didn't invent him. He has been a power behind American elections until the members of the National League of Women Voters emerged from ambush and caved his derby in with a folded sheaf of properly stamped ballots.

We heard all about the organisation yesterday afternoon during an interview with President Mary Woolley of Mount Holyoke College. Miss Woolley has taken a keen interest in the political education of American women in general and the women of Massachusetts in particular. Though barely a year old, the National League of Women Voters has the full battalion of machine-politicians rushing for the cyclone cellars.

WOMEN ACT THE PART

In Massachusetts, Miss Woolley told us, the League issues political primers, gives lecture courses, and presents dramatisations of the proceedings in the state legislature and in Congress. The parts of the lawmakers are acted out entirely by women League members for the benefit of their less-instructed sisters, though the scenario doesn't say whether or not the lady impersonating Henry Cabot Lodge feels impelled to wear whiskers, or if the devoted suffragist taking off the gentleman from Arizona feels that she must put her feet on the desk and practice chewing.

HANDBAG IS MENACE

When we walked into the House of Representatives one day just after the Armistice was signed, we discovered a wordy battle which we thought from the noise couldn't concern anything less than wringing the last drop of blood from the Central Powers. But after listening a few minutes, we learned that the argument concerned the raising of a postmaster's salary in Wyoming from $65 to $85 a month.

Disillusioned, we sought contact with world affairs in the Senate. Here a really great speech was in progress. The audience, however, consisted of some pages in knee pants, a few newspaper reporters, a

LEASEHOLDS IN CHINA ARE BREEDERS OF BIG TROUBLE

Wellington Koo Tells The Conference Why China Must Be Sovereign

POWERS MENACE

Cites Cases Of Russia And Germany Instances Of His Contention

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 7.—Dr. Wellington Koo has issued the following statement:

"At the meeting of the committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions on December 3. Mr. Hanihara read a statement outlining the position of Japan with reference to the leased territories of Kiaochao and the Kwantung Peninsula, namely, Port Arthur and Dalny. The Chinese delegation desired to offer a few observations in the connection in the hope that the position of China may be equally well understood.

"The declaration that Japan succeeded Germany in the leasehold of Kiaochao under the Treaty of Versailles is obviously one unilateral in character, to which China, not being a party of the Treaty, cannot be expected to subscribe.

"It is however gratifying to note the reference to the fact, referred to in the statement, that Japan obtained her leased territories not directly from China, but from other Powers at considerable sacrifice in men and treasure, because this assurance appears to confirm the views of the Chinese delegation that the maintenance of foreign leased territories in China jeopardises the peace of the Far East.

HOW TWO WARS STARTED

"It will be recalled that Russia's possession of Port Arthur and Dalny and Germany's possession of Kiaochow eventually brought about two wars on Chinese territory and resulted in the installation of Japan herself in these leased areas. With regard to the leased territory of Kwantung province, its original term will expire in 1925 and while Japan obtained an extension to 99 years in 1915, this was obtained in such circumstances that the dispute about its validity remains one of the gravest outstanding questions between China and Japan."

Dr. Wellington Koo pointed out that the national safety, security and economic life vitally depended on the safeguarding of Manchuria as an integral portion of the Republic and declared that if the propinquity of Manchuria to Korea justified a claim to consideration, it could only be equitably appealed to on condition of reciprocity.

With regard to the statement that America, Great Britain and France had undertaken to safeguard Japanese interests in Manchuria Dr. Koo said he was not in a position to express an opinion regarding the accuracy of this assertion since China had not been consulted in any way. Such an assurance, he said, would be irreconcilable with the principle adopted by the Conference on November 21 of respect for the sovereignty and independence of China.

SEES OTHER SOLUTION

As to the leased territory of Kowloon, Dr. Koo declared that there was much to be said for the importance of Hongkong to the trade of nations and for the way in which its facilities were made acceptable to the traders of the world and that while there might be necessity to provide for the protection of Hongkong harbor in the interests of such trade the retention of Kowloon might not necessarily be the sole solution of this problem.

The Chinese proposal that China's rights as a neutral should be fully respected in future wars was unanimously adopted after a long statement. Dr. Wang Chung-hui declaring that the subject would not have been presented for discussion had not China's rights in the past been disregarded, notably in the Russo-Japanese war and in the more recent operations against Tsingtao, and pointing out that similar offence in the future would provide a non-offending belligerent with just cause for complaint not only against the offending belligerent but against China.

THOUSANDS AT MEETING MAKE PROTEST AGAINST DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS

Storm Of Popular Anger Develops Swiftly When Washington Messages Tell Shantung's Fate Will Not Be Decided By Conference But Is To Be Referred To Japanese-Chinese Parley

COMMERCIAL BODIES AID MOVEMENT

Manifesto Issued Asserts Nation Is Amazed And Confidence In Good Faith Of Powers Meeting To Effect Disarmament Has Been Shattered

More than ten thousand students and representatives of Chinese organisations held a mass meeting yesterday which probably is to be the forerunner of a new country-wide uprising of protest, the outstanding purpose of which will be to prevent any direct negotiations between China and Japan on the Shantung question and to bring about final abrogaton of Japan's notorious "21 demands" of 1915.

The new storm of indignation has arisen overnight and is a development growing out of news dispatches from the Disarmament Conference at Washington. When the word was brought from America that the Shantung question is to be taken up outside of the Conference and dealt with in direct negotiations between representatives of Japan and China, the effect in China has proved to be immediate and the first articulate expression of the anger of the Chinese people was voiced at yesterday's meeting. Reports that have been received tell that other demonstrations and uprisings are being held and planned in many of the larger centers of the country.

MANIFESTO ISSUED

The direct outcome of yesterday's demonstration, which was launched on the spur of the moment and without fixed program, was the issuance of a fervid manifesto that sets forth in unmistakable terms the feelings of the intelligent classes of the Chinese people over the new situation that has developed at Washington. Besides carrying through the adoption of the manifesto as a popular expression of protest, the big meeting voted also to address a number of telegrams to those identified with the Washington Conference and to Chinese organisations.

It is particularly significant in connection with the movement launched yesterday that while little or no preparation was made for the big meeting it brought forth a general outpouring of the schools of Shanghai, some 70-odd of which were represented and virtually all of the more important Chinese commercial bodies also sent representatives. In all there were present upwards 100 groups representing schools and organisations of various kinds.

The meeting, which took place in the afternoon following a morning preliminary session of leaders of students bodies and representatives of commercial bodies, was held on what is known as the Wu Kiung Yin, an open tract near the Shanghai-Hangchow Railway Station. After the early arrivals mounted a makeshift platform that had been erected shortly after 2 o'clock soon all of the open area was filled with bands of students and groups of delegates of organisations. Hundreds of banners borne in the hands of those who had come to the meeting, whipped in a brisk wind and lent animation to the scene.

TRAMS HALTED

In a short time the whole tract was filled with a surging mass of humanity and then the adjacent thoroughfares filed up with massed throngs, causing for a time complete interruption of tramway traffic. In fact when several tram cars were halted, unable to proceed through the crowd, the standing cars were taken over and occupied, many climbing to the roofs as a vantage point from which to watch the proceedings of the meeting. No effort was made by the authorities to halt the proceedings which were conducted in orderly fashion and a parade that was formed and marched away at the conclusion of the proceedings was not interrupted or molested.

Not only the Chinese colleges and middle schools took part in the gathering, but girls and boys of the primary schools also were present in force and flowing banners with inscriptions of various kinds were borne by all of the many groups. Excellent order was observed throughout the meeting and though excitement at times ran high Chinese Boy Scouts and even a group of Chinese Girl Guides had no difficulty in preserving general decorum.

ADDRESS MADE

Amid a burst of applause Mr. Chang Yih of the Chinese Students Union was nominated Chairman of the meeting. In an introductory address he told the purposes of the meeting which were to oppose any direct negotiations between Japan and China on the Shantung question and to work for the complete abrogation of Japan's 21 demands of 1915. He then introduced Mr. Pao-li Tsiang, President of the Students

PREPAREDNESS IN PEACE IS PLAN OF SECY. WEEKS

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec 7.—In his annual report to Congress, Mr. Weeks, the Secretary of War, declares that the plans for national defence contemplates a more complete preparedness program than ever before in times of peace.

He recommends the maintenance of a large surplus of officers of the Regular Army to train the personnel of the Reserve, and suggests doubling the capacity of the Government Military Academy.

Mr. Weeks says that new types of military equipment from the infantry hand grenade to the heaviest artillery are being produced and will gradually supplement existing types. Poison gas and chemical warfare are being studied secretly for, although the Americans may be opposed to the principle of using poison gas, they cannot safely presume a similar attitude on the part of their opponents.

The Secretary of War emphasises that the United States is much behind the leaders in the aerial development of warfare and urges every encouragement to commercial aviation.

Union, who also spoke. Several other speakers followed, but the surging throng around the platform was so dense and at times vociferous and the waving sea of banners made it all but impossible for the masses at a distance from the speakers to hear what was said. All present, however, were acutely aware of the object of the gathering and gave unstinted applause to the speeches that most could not hear.

After various speakers had appeared the big gathering gave a reverent and formal salute to the Chinese colors floating from the platform. This consisted of three bows. The somewhat lengthy manifesto then was read and printed copies of it were distributed throughout the big crowd by workers. Announcement was made that cablegrams would be sent to Washington to the Chinese delegates there and to representatives of the various powers.

PARADE IS FORMED

It was announced also that copies of the manifesto will be delivered today to all the foreign Consulates of Shanghai. The meeting closed with three cheers for the Chinese Republic and then with quiet order under direction of the Boy Scouts the parade was formed.

The first group in the line of march were from the China Institute for Destitute Children and following these came group after group with their waving banners, among other representations being students from St. John's University, Futan University, the Shanghai Baptist College, the Shanghai College of Commerce, the Shanghai Fine Arts College and the Yangshin Girls School. There were also groups representing the various bodies of the Shanghai Street Unions and others from leading Chinese organisations, including the Chinese Chamber of Commerce and the Kiangsu Educational Association.

The banners carried by the marchers were in English, French and Chinese and bore such inscriptions as, "Do Away With the 21 Demands," "Oppose Direct Negotiations," "Fight to the Last," "Uphold Right and Justice" and "We are For World Peace."

In proceeding from the meeting place the line of march proceeded along the Marche de L'Est, then along the Rue de Deux Republiques and finally dispersed near the Little East Gate in the Chinese City.

MESSAGES SENT

The telegrams and cables that the mass meeting voted to dispatch were as follows:

1. To Alfred Sze and colleagues asking them to insist on unconditional restoration of Shantung rights and cancellation of the Twenty-one Demands and warning them that any direct parley would be doomed and the settlement of these issues by the Conference is a vital factor.

2. To Hughes and Balfour informing them that an organised demonstration throughout China demands that the Conference should directly settle the Shantung Question and the 21 Demands, the Chinese people insisting on the unconditional surrender of Shantung rights and the cancellation of the Twenty-one Demands. They are further asked to avoid compromise because the peace of the world and the success of the conference are at stake.

3. To the Chinese Students' Alliance and Chinese citizens commending their demonstration and assuring them of nation's support.

4. To the American People soliciting their support for unconditional return of Shantung rights and cancellation of the Twenty-one Demands and notifying them that the Chinese people want direct settlement of these issues affecting the world's peace by the Conference as opposed to direct parley between Chinese and Japanese delegations.

TEXT OF MANIFESTO

The full text of the manifesto issued by the mass meeting is as follows:

"As the main objects of the Washington Conference convened by President Warren G. Harding are the reduction of armaments and the adjustment of Pacific Problems in order to spare the world of the horrors of another international war, it is exceedingly important that full justice should be done to China which is one of the most important nations bordering on the Pacific because the peace of the world is not secure as long as China is made to groan under the crushing burden of injustice arising from the Shantung Question, the Twenty-one Demands, and the unjust terms embodied in the treaties concluded between the Foreign Powers and China in which the latter had not been treated on a footing of equality.

"The Shantung question arose out of the expulsion of Germans from Tsingtao by the Japanese in the year 1915 in connection with the European war, a campaign which was followed by Japan's refusal to leave the port where she has ever since entrenched herself. Now China was one of the nations that arrayed itself on the side of the Allies, and when Germany was made to surrender territories which she had seized by force, Tsingtao should have automatically been restored to China without any conditions attached to the restoration, and no other nation had any right of intervention. But the Japanese in defiance of the principles of international justice had laid a firm grip on Tsingtao and had expanded her influence in the Province of Shantung with a view to Japanising the whole province. Surely this is a case of glaring infringement of the principles of international justice!

"The treaty embodying the Twenty-one Demands has not been ratified by the Chinese Parliament and has always been repudiated by the whole people of China. Moreover, in view of the internationally recognised principle that treaties concluded under duress are not valid, the treaty in question is incontrovertibly null and void. It is exceedingly regrettable that when this question was discussed at the Paris Conference, the result was the non-vindication of China's rights. The convocation of the Washington Conference has brought hopes to our minds inasmuch as we were given to understand that the nations represented at the Conference would be ready to solve with a full measure of justice China's diplomatic problems which have a direct bearing on the peace of the world. What amazed us most was that the Shantung case, according to cable reports received here, would be discussed outside the Conference. Such a development would shatter the confidence that we placed in the good faith of the leading nations represented at the Conference and is a mystery to the peoples of the friendly nations.

"We beg to utter the emphatic warning that it is in vain to seek the perpetual peace of the world if China's diplomatic problems are again settled on the patched-up basis of compromise. A just solution of these problems will not only be conducive to the prestige of the foreign nations participating at the Conference but will materially contribute to the welfare of the human race. We hope that all having at heart the world's peace will see the moral force of our unrelenting opposition against all forms of direct parley with Japan over the Shantung Question and the unconditional abrogation of the Twenty-one Demands.

in fact, seems to feel that it has been rather left out in the cold, and that these two Generals are now showing no signs of supporting the institution in Peking.

There is certain uneasiness in the Government. The old question of the resignation of the Premier, Chin Yun-peng, is alive again, and the President is reported to be trying once again to pursuade him to retain his job. The minister of Communications is also threatening to resign.

HELPS TSAO KUN

The recent visit of Wu Pei-fu to Tsinanfu is reported to be in the interests of consolidating the power of that general, and his nominal boss, Tsao Kun, in Shantung. The Tuchun, Tien, who has in the past been anything but a supporter of the Chihli party, has been in very serious difficulty over the opposition of his provincial assembly, which has apparently had all that it wants of General Tien.

They have been doing their best to get him removed from office, and his latest reported action, that of negotiating a loan with a Canadian Bank, though denied by all parties, has caused a renewed outburst of feeling against the Tuchun. So General Wu and Tsao Kun have been asked to come down and help him out. It is reported that he was very successful in this during his recent visit to the capital of Shantung, and that the power of the Chihli party is much increased in that region.

Senator writing home to his wife, another telling a funny story, and several more enjoying an informal siesta. The only exciting thing that happened to us there was when a guard told us to take our hand-bag off the gallery rail, lest it fall over and demolish a Senator. If the National League of Women Voters portrayed the legislative happenings realistically, they would present the voters with both eye—and mouth—openers.

One of the most important functions of the League was the publishing of candidates' records just previous to election. As the organization never affiliates itself with any political party, no office-seeker can hope to squirm out from under its X-ray. Though a candidate may drape all his sentences with the flag and speak to the intonations of the "Star-Spangled Banner," it would profit him nothing in case the records showed that he fought a child-labor law or was once under the charge of having an over-adhesive palm.

DILEMMA-LIKE PINCHERS

Somehow, in spite of all their decades of voting, this simple device never occurred to those enfranchised by the provisions of manhood suffrage. The League also has the habit of getting past the candidate's office boy and demanding where he stands on certain material issues. The replies are published with his record; if he refuses to answer, the fact of his refusal is made public likewise. In other words, he gets it either coming or going.

The National League of Women Voters is disproving for all time the favorite anti-suffrage argument that a woman will vote as her husband does anyway, and that giving her the ballot merely means twice as much trouble for the counters. It also erases the picture of the lady in the voting-booth who tries to stamp all the candidates so as not to hurt anyone's feelings.

In addition to showing serious interest in politics, women at home are seeking a foothold in dozens of new occupations. Miss Woolley states that at Mt. Holyoke College there is a vocational advisor to guide students in their choice of a career and to help them elect the courses best suited to their needs. Successful women in many different professions lecture to the students about the advantages and drawbacks of their particular lines of work. Medicine, law, banking, bacteriology, social service, journalism, dietetics, and specialised church work are just a few of the professions into which college graduates are going.

MUST COAX TEACHERS

Only a few years ago four girl students out of five planned to be teachers; today there is such a rush into other occupations that special lectures are given in order to coax more women into what threatens to become a neglected field.

A very recently developed phase of teaching is that of professional Sunday-school superintendent. The frock-coated individual who kept a hardware store on week-days and who knew as much about pedagogy as an ant-eater does about chewing-gum has already disappeared from many of the larger churches. In his place is a well-trained college graduate who realises that the same principles of teaching apply on Sunday as on the five days of the school week.

Vocational training, however, is not entirely taking the place of the other cultural development.

"Educators are realising that both specialised study and courses in general culture are necessary for the growth of a strong womanhood," said Miss Woolley. "That, after all, is the great purpose of our colleges, not the mere granting of degrees."

Miss Woolley plans to remain in Shanghai until late in January, when she will complete her work with the visiting Educational Commission.

Quadruple Entente Will Work To Get Permanent Peace On Pacific Shores

withdrawal of Japanese troops in Siberia and will make an attempt to settle the question of recognition and trade relations, according to reliable reports today.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, December 7.—The Far Eastern Committee has unanimously adopted resolutions ensuring the territorial integrity of China, providing for the use of wireless stations, and providing for China's neutrality in the event of a war in which China is not a party.

According to information from American official sources the tentative agreement between Britain, the United States, Japan and France to replace the Anglo-Japanese Alliance is now being reduced to treaty form and, if accepted by the respective Governments, will be submitted to the United States Senate.

It provides for joint consultation on any matters affecting the interests of the Four Powers in the Pacific Islands. Each Power undertakes to consult the others before making war on any differences relating to those islands.

The questions between the United States and Japan relating to cable facilities in the Islands of Yap and other matters will be dealt with in a separate Treaty which is stated to be nearing completion.

OFFICIAL COMMUNIQUE

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, December 7.—The official communique states that at today's meeting of the committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions all the delegates were present except Baron Shidehara (Japan) and Senator Underwood (America).

The report, submitted by the Sub-Committee on Drafting relating to radio stations for China, states that the representatives of the Nine Powers at the Conference have decided that all radio stations in China whether maintained under the provisions of the International Protocol of September 7, 1901, or in fact maintained on the grounds of any foreign Legations in China, shall be limited in use to sending and receiving Government messages.

They shall not receive or send commercial, personal or unofficial messages, including press matter. It is provided, however, that in case all other telegraphic communication is interrupted then upon official notification, accompanied by proof of such interruption, to the Chinese Ministry of Communications such statons may afford temporary facilities for messages, excluded as aforementioned, until the Chinese Government notify the termination of the interruption.

All radio stations in Chinese territory operated by foreign Governments or subjects under treaties or concessions shall limit the messages sent or received by the terms of the treaty or concession under which the respective stations are maintained. Any radio station maintained without the authority of the Chinese Government shall be transferred to China, to be operated under the direction of the Chinese Ministry of Communications, against compensation to the owners for the value of the installation, as soon as the Ministry of Communications is prepared to operate them effectively for the general public benefit.

Should any question arise regarding radio stations in the leased territories, in the South Manchuria Railway zone or in the French Concession in Shanghai, they shall be regarded as matters for discussion between the Chinese Government and the Governments concerned.

Owners or managers of all foreign radio stations shall confer with the Chinese Ministry of Communications for the purpose of effecting a common arrangement to avoid interference in the use of wave lengths by wireless stations in China, subject to such general arrangement as may be made by the International Conference convened for the revision of the rules established by the London International Radio Telegraph Convention of 1912.

M. Viviani unreservedly supported the resolution, but suggested a general agreement which should result in the regulation of the competition now prevailing as regards wireless telegraphy in China, competition which, if prolonged, might easily result in a hopeless tangle.

The Chairman stated that the American delegation was full of sympathy with M. Viviani's idea and suggested that the French delegate might care to bring in a resolution giving effect thereto.

IRELAND BIG TOPIC

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 8.—The Irish settlement overshadows the Conference at Washington. Moreover it is likely to have an appreciable influence indirectly on the work of the Conference, especially on those decisions which have to be ratified by the Senate before becoming operable, because the Irish question has hitherto been the greatest stumbling-block to complete Anglo-American friendship and good understanding.

Regarding the direct issues of the Conference the delegates are still marking time pending the receipt of Tokio's reply.

A telegram reaching Paris from Washington says that M. Viviani conversed for an hour and a half with Mr. Hughes, presumably concerning the participation of France in the projected Quadruple Pacific Agreement.

ASKS FINANCE PROBE

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 7.—Mr. Mochizuki, of the Japanese delegation, today urged the conference to appoint a general committee to investigate the Chinese situation and to find some practical methods for applying financial aid to the Chinese.

SEEK MODIFICATIONS

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 7.—The impression is growing that it may be expedient to modify the ten year naval holiday to permit the building of capital ships on a very restricted basis. The British and Japanese are reported to feel that such modification is necessary and the Americans are said to somewhat share the same view.

One delegation of spokesmen said that the meeting of the Big Three was one of the most important meetings yet held and will mean a great deal to the success of the conference.

It is understood that some concessions were made to Japan in today's discussions regarding the maintainence of Japanese troops in China, which some interpret as meaning Japan is making naval concessions.

ATTACK PEKING

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, Dec. 7.—As a sequel to the commencement of direct negotiations between the Japanese and Chinese delegates on the Shantung question, a fierce attack has come to be launched upon the Government by various quarters. The Central Government, therefore, is expected to make public the particulars of the progress of the Shantung issue before long in order to remove misunderstandings.

SHANTUNG REAL ISSUE

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, D. C. Dec. 7.—The termination of the Anglo-Japanese alliance will be announced in Tokio with the arrival of the official despatches from the Japanese delegation to the conference with the explanation that the agreement is no longer necessary, according to the official belief here.

Japan has announced the text of the interchange of the new understandings reached at the conference, and this action has saved Great Britain the necessity of offending Japan and the "loss of face" in the event of an abrupt cancellation.

While the American fears are soothed, it is doubted in many circles if public opinion may not be said to have been sacrificed.

The disputes now before the conference are over the status of the Shantung negotiations. Japanese delegates say the question of Shantung should not come before the conference while the Chinese delegates stoutly maintain that they should.

It is definitely known that Hanihara will insist upon the joint control of the railways and complete relinquishment of all claim by the Chinese. The deadlock may be submitted to the conference by the Chinese delegates.

The National Council for the Limitations of Armaments has begun its campaign to create sentiment for the abolition of the submarine. The view of editors, educators and clergy are being gathered and thousands of telegrams and letters are pouring on the administration.

GOT IT FROM RUSSIA

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 7.—The Japanese delegation told the committee on Far Eastern Affairs today that Japan does not intend to relinquish the right to Port Arthur on the grounds that these rights were acquired from Russia, virtually with the consent of the United States, France, and Great Britain. It was made clear that Japan is ready to come to an agreement with China for the restoration of the Kiaochow lease.

ALL WILL GET OUT

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 7.—France, Great Britain and Japan have offered to quit leased territory which they occupy in China consent upon the fulfillment of conditions which China is expected to meet.

It is understood that the Japanese delegates have agreed to give up leased territory in Shantung. France offers to give up Kwangchouwan, and the British Weihaiwei.

The consideration behind the question of naval ratios in Japanese minds is the question as to whether Japan is to be isolated or linked to the other powers. The Japanese hope the United States may be induced through a British-American-Japanese treaty to cease fortifying the Pacific, which will relieve Japanese anxieties if not compensate for yielding on the tonnage question.

MAY GO TO CONFERENCE

(Trans-Pacific Public Ledger—China Press Exclusive Service)

Washington, Dec. 6.—It is officially announced here that President Harding will leave the decision as to whether or not a supplementary conference will be held to the present delegates. No invitations will be issued without the general consent of those attending the present meeting.

The Shantung sessions have been resumed with Tokugawa replacing Kato as head of the Japanese delegation. An official communique issued today says that "it was agreed on the part of the delegations that in discussing Shantung they will consider the actual facts not from an academic viewpoint as a basis for discussions without giving ground for the least inference that the discussion will be based on treaty arrangements which have been in dispute between Japan and China or other nations."

The first question discussed was the status of the railway. It was reported that Japan has repeated her recent offer to China and is holding out on the proposal for unconditional return.

It was learned that Dr. Alfred Sze in agreeing to the parley with Japan, reserved the right to take the negotiations into the conference proper at any time, and in any case the decision will be recorded there.

Chambers May Join In Protest To Loans Forced By Military

A proposal that the Chambers of Commerce throughout China unite in a protest to the Central Government over the practice of military leaders assessing such bodies for funds has been received by the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce from the Chamber at Hankow.

The Hankow organisation states that it was recently obliged to loan $300,000 to the Tuchun to enable payment of troops. The Chamber protests that it was formed as a representative body for the merchant class and not to engage in banking and it asks the Shanghai organisation to join in making representations to Peking. But before such representations are made it suggests that the support of Chambers of other cities be secured.

$95,000 AWARD MADE TOBACCO PRODUCTS CORP.

The Mixed Court yesterday awarded $95,000 damages to the Tobacco Products Corporation in their $220,825.53 suit against the New World Company. The judgment given yesterday marks the termination of a lengthy legal argument between the tobacco company and the amusement place, which, according to the evidence presented, arose from a broken sales contract amounting to $181,000.

The Tobacco Products Corporation stated in their complaint that on May 5, 1921, they entered into a mortgage agreement with the New World company for the exclusive sale of cigarettes for a period of ten years. The compradore of the Tobacco Products Corporation, Mr. Loh Sih-eu, according to the terms of the agreement, was selected as manager of the New World Company, but several of the shareholders of the latter firm objected to his appointment and as a result the breach opened which finally resulted in the attempted cancellation of the contract.

One of the provisions of the agreement was for the collection of cigarette covers and coupons and their exchange by the New World for admission tickets on a premium basis. The bonus plan was to be further carried out with the exchange of empty packages of cigarettes manufactured by the Tobacco Products Corporation for two cigarettes, and according to the complaint of the tobacco company the contract would have been a very profitable undertaking.

Following the disagreement between the stockholders, the New World company is said to have filed two suits in the American Court in an endeavor to break their contract, and later offered a settlement amounting to $95,000. This offer in turn was withdrawn according to the court complaint and the Tobacco Products Corporation engaged Mr. R. T. Bryan, Jr., of the firm of Fleming, Davies and Bryan to press the case in the Mixed Court.

The decision of the court said in part, "—defendants are ordered to specifically perform the terms of the agreement of settlement of October 26, 1921—and are ordered to pay said plaintiffs this sum of $95,000, and interest at 8 percent from date."

The attorneys for the New World Company were Mr. K. E. Newman, of Teesdale, Godfrey & Newman, with associate counsel of Rodger & Haskell and Mr. James Ross of Ross, Lawrence together with Mr. G. D. Musso.

The judgment was given by Assessor Tenney and Magistrate Kwan.

Inchcape Urges Britain Cut High Costs; Else Bankrupt

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 7.—At the annual meeting of the Peninsular and Oriental Steam Navigation Co. today, Lord Inchcape, who is a member of the Geddes Economy Committee, in an outspoken speech, criticised the State's expenditure and declared that our commitments, unless they were modified, would lead us to bankruptcy.

The only hope for the country lay in reduction of expenditure. He said that in common with most shipping companies, the P. and O. Co. had had a wretched year. The wages afloat must be reduced if British shipping was to hold its own.

Coalition Is Not For Canada Who Returns Liberals

(Reuter's Service)

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—Mr. Mackenzie King, who has received many telegrams of congratulation, though the results are still incomplete, said that the people of Canada had shown that they were heartily sick of coalitions, and he rejoiced that the Liberals had returned a clear majority over both the other groups and were therefore able to carry on without coalescing or logrolling.

Ottawa, Dec. 7.—The General Election returns show that the Conservatives hold 43 seats, the Liberals 190, the Progressives 33 and Labor 2. Forty-eight constituencies have not yet reported. The Liberal leader, Mr. Mackenzie King, was elected by a majority of nearly 1,000. One woman, Miss McPhail was elected in Ontario.

Mellon Would Cut Heavy Tax Holding Back Enterprise

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, Dec. 7.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in his report to Congress refers to the question of the funding of the foreign indebtedness to the United States of $10,000,000,000. He calls attention to the fact that within six months $67,500,000 of short-dated Government Debt will mature and argues at length in favor of the reduction of income surtaxes from 50 to 20 percent and even to 10 percent for peace times. Mr. Mellon contends that heavy taxes prevent enterprise.

Sea-Sickness Can be Prevented!

No Drugging—No Unpleasant After-Effects.

An appreciative doctor wrote:—

"Lady——was placed under my care for the voyage Home. I could not accept any responsibility as I considered she was in great danger from haemorrhage should she vomit. She had always been a very bad sailor. As a precaution she was given two capsules of 'KIRBY'S SEA-SICK CURE' immediately she went on board. We got into rough water shortly before midnight, but Lady——had an undisturbed night's rest. She took one capsule half-an-hour before dressing. She had breakfast in the dining hall, and assured me she had no sensation of nausea or sickness. Although we had rough weather for five days, and at other periods of the voyage, she was not sea-sick. There was no nausea of any kind, and the remedy produced no after-effects."

Strokeside, Bearcats And S.A.S. Win At Basketball

Pile Up Big Scores Against S'hai College, S.P.S. And "Y" Fives

The Shanghai American School broke into the winning column of the Foreign Basketball league last night by their decisive win over the "Y" aggregation, by a score of 38-7. Incidentally the "Y" five suffered its third straight defeat. Other games played last night resulted:

Rowing Club Strokeside 64, Shanghai Faculty 21 and "Y" Bearcats 51, Public School 20. The first and last mentioned were played on the "Y" floor, while the Strokeside-College game was played at Yangtszepoo.

Notwithstanding the large scores in all of the games each match was well played and worth watching throughout. The playing of the light American school boys against the bigger "Y" men was the real brilliant work of the games. Their combination was almost perfect, and with sharp passing, sure catching and clever shooting the game was kept open enough for the smaller boys to outclass their bigger opponents. The School forwards and their center, Squires were particularly active in team work and in scoring, while Waters and Chase were very effective in the defense.

The Strokeside-Shanghai college game was a walkaway for the Rowing Club five, with Neprud starring in the play. He counted half his team's points from the floor and added four more from fouls. H. Nash with nine baskets and Johnson with five piled the score up still further. Anderson and Hipps for the Faculty team registered nine baskets between them and Kelhofer converted three from fouls.

The Bearcats-Public School match was another walkaway with Roxburg, Gray and Irle doing the bulk of the scoring for the winning side. Levis and Johannson divided scoring honors for the School. The Bearcats with open play and clever team work combined with their greater experience and size outranked the school from the beginning.

Tonight the Bowside, Rowing Club meets the Socony team at 5:30 and the American Trading Co. plays Anderson Meyer and Co. at 6:30 both on the Rowing Club floor. It will mark the first appearance this season of the Standard Oil men.

Tomorrow the Shanghai College team will meet the Shanghai American School, at Yangtszepoo.

Yesterday's scores follow:

Boy Scouts' New Camp Ground To Be Opened Tomorrow

Sir Everard Fraser, K.C.M.G., British Consul-General, will officially open the Baden-Powell Boy Scouts' new camp in Avenue Haig, near the corner of Edinburgh Road, at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Parents of Scouts, friends and others interested in scout work are cordially invited to be present for the opening ceremonies. The Scouts have obtained the ground on rental for a year and look forward to spending many enjoyable week-ends under canvas.

American Club Has "Smoker" Tonight

The American Club is giving a smoker in the Club rooms this evening. A very promising program has been arranged and it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

S. V. C Notes

Revolvers

Response to C.R.O. 242 of 1st inst., on the subject of bringing revolvers in to Headquarters for examination, has been most disappointing. Some 12 officers in all have hitherto complied with the order, and only one warrant officer.

All ranks armed or who should be armed with revolvers will assist the Commandant materially by coming along to Headquarters with their pistols (or to get them, if they have never been issued.)

The new revolver range is nearly ready and a small manual on the subject of revolver shooting, including details of the annual course, is now in the press. This course will be put into operation as soon as the range is ready and should prove most interesting.

Bayonet Fighting Course

The Commandant has reluctantly had to abandon the scheme of providing a Bayonet Fighting Course in the Drill Hall owing to the inevitable damage to bayonets when prodding even the most substantial of dummies lying on a very hard surface. The B. F. Course will be constructed near the 400 yards shelter at the Rifle Range, where a full "run" can be assured and which will be available for units to use during camps and at other times when they are using the range.

Musketry

The disappointing result attained by many members in the A.M.C. is due mostly to those who are indifferent shots not going through the "Part 1. Recruits and Third Class Shots" course beforehand. This course is an excellent grounding for the Classification Course, and anyone who takes the trouble to "see it through" cannot subsequently fail to do at least moderately well in the latter, with the single proviso that he spends a little time on practice at rapid loading and firing. In this last connection, a certain member of the Corps had no previous experience of rapid firing prior to the late A.R.M. and consequently did not distinguish himself therein, but by dint of a couple of ten minutes' practice in his room managed, when firing Practice 14 of the A.M.C. recently, to get 9 out of 10 shots off in the minute and make a score of 34 out of a possible 40. An important point in practicing without ammunition is always to aim at a mark.

It is further to be noted that a recruit, who has had no previous experience of rifle shooting, can save himself a great deal of disappointment, and incidentally save instructors annoyance, by attending the preliminary musketry lectures and instruction given weekly (Wednesday evenings at 5:30 p.m.) at Headquarters by Mr. Leighton, before attempting the actual firing of Part 1 on the range.

"B" CO., BRITISH

The Unit will parade for night operations at the Ward Road Gaol at 8:45 p.m. on Tuesday, December 13. Move off at 9 p.m. Dress: Drill order with caps and British warm coats. A full attendance is requested as this will be one of the stated parades for efficiency. If wet, the Unit will parade at Foochow Road Drill Hall.

There will be no further weekly drills until January 3, when drills will be held weekly at 5:45 p.m. unless otherwise notified.

The Monthly N.C.O's mess dinner will take place at 20 Carter Road on Wednesday, December 14 at 8 p.m. Dress: Plain clothes.

The postponed dance will take place at the Town Hall on December 17 at 9 p.m. Dress: Mess, evening dress, or plain clothes.

SHANGHAI SCOTTISH

Since our last contribution to the Volunteer Notes the Annual Camp has taken place.

A very full program has been carried out which included two tactical exercises, night operations and the Annual Musketry Course.

From the time the Unit marched into camp until it struck on Monday morning, standing Routine was strictly observed and it is pleasing to note the guard reports show no prisoners.

The Highland Games on Sunday afternoon were most successful and perhaps no greater compliment could have been paid them than the remark of an old and respected friend when he was heard to say that the atmosphere and spirit of the occasion carried him back to his days of the Gatherings in the Far and Misty North.

The value of the Camp, apart from the Military point of view, in maintaining "Esprit de Corps" and creating that spirit of good

S'HAI FOOTBALL LEAGUE LEADERS MEET TOMORROW

The feature of tomorrow's seven league matches in the Shanghai Football association will be the game between the league leaders, the Shanghai Football Club and the runner up, the Engineers which by the way was leading a week ago. The match will be played on the Club's field at the Race Track and is bound to provide good football interest.

The Recs, now holding third position in the first division are billed to play the Portuguese XI on the S.R.C. grounds. The match, in spite of the low standing of the Portuguese team will be well played and sharply contested since the Recs are handicapped at present by injuries, and a trifle off their best game even with their first line men on the field. The third first division match is that between the Police and the Customs on the Police field.

In the second division the leading elevens for the most part are pitted against those holding the lower averages. The division leaders, the S.F.C. 2nd meet the Jewish team on the Polo Field, the Recs and the Portuguese and the Public School and the Navy meet at Hongkew, while the Rangers and the Electricity Dept. meet on the Widow's Monument field.

WASH'N. U. BALL NINE SAILS FROM JAPAN FOR HOME

Yokohama, Dec. 8.—The University of Washington baseball team, which arrived in Japan from Seattle, Washington, on September 9 left Dec. 2 for the United States on the steamer Fushimi Maru, the same vessel which brought the team to the Orient.

During their stay in Japan the university ball players played 41 games and won 23. The Puget Sound men won a series with Waseda University five games out of nine, a series from Keio, three games straight, and a series from the Diamond Club of Osaka which represented Japan at the Olympics in Shanghai. After leaving Tokio, the team visited most of the cities of Japan, including Kobe, Osaka, Kyoto, Nara, Okayama, Wakayama, Shizuoka, Miyajima, Nagasaki, Beppu, Kokura, Hirashima and Yawata. In several places visited, the college ball players were the first foreign baseball team to appear. The players report that the Japanese entertained them cordially in most of the towns visited.

The Seattle Asahi team, an aggregation of Japanese ball players living in Seattle, accompanied the Washington players on the Fushimi.

American Football Now Promises Weekly Games

Squads Start Stiff Training Tomorrow On Polo Field For Big Matches

Shanghai American Football candidates are turning out solid tomorrow, light and heavy, big and small, for a stiff signal practice on the Polo Field, in optimistic anticipation of a series of football games commencing Sunday that will lead up to a match on New Year's day with the Peking Marines for the Championship of China.

Manager Herby Gallop yesterday was confident that the American game was due for the biggest boost for popularity that it has ever had in the Far East. He was in a position to speak of a possible match Sunday with the team off the Cruiser Wilmington, or for a certainty of the match for the Sunday following, or perhaps even both. He is working also on a Christmas game with a real light eleven of the city squad meeting the American School. Further, Gallop was in receipt of a telegram yesterday from Capt. C. McLott, Post Adjutant of the U. S. Marine Corps at Peking, which practically guarantees the appearance of the North China champions here for New Year's day and a second match on the day following between the lighter Marines and the Shanghai light eleven. After that Gallop expects that the Isabel, the Tracy and the Wilmington elevens will keep the ball rolling through the winter.

The New Year's championship game with the Marines is now assured pending the final settlement of a few minor details of arrangement. These are expected to be agreed upon as soon as Capt. McLott can possibly answer Gallop's letter in which the whole situation was explained in detail. Gallop expects a mail confirmation of McLott's telegram daily.

The question of financing will be solved by the sale of subscription tags to the game. These tags will be offered for sale by a committee of workers which will be appointed tomorrow. It is expected that advance subscriptions toward defraying a fair portion of the Marine's expense will almost reach the needed figure, and that the tag sales at the game will do the rest. Manager Gallop declares that the general sentiment of the public is toward fair liberality to finance a game such as the Peking-Shanghai affair promises.

The practice tomorrow commences at 3 p.m. All candidates for either eleven are urged to be out. The drill will be the beginning of a course on "inside" football tactics, which will be carried through daily until New Year's eve., probably in the S. V. C. Drill Hall at 5:30 p.m., until the eve of the big game, Dec. 31.

Harriers Hold Run Tomorrow

The Shanghai Harriers Club will hold its second training run tomorrow afternoon, in which will be included a fast and a slow pack, and the team race feature which was instituted last week and proved so popular as to be made a weekly fixture of the club.

The start will be made from the American school at 3 p.m. The run will cover an easy course through the Kiangwan district to a distance of about three and a half miles.

The teams are to be drawn after the start. At the end of the season the six runners having the most points as members of winning teams shall be judged the winners for the year, according to the plan adopted by leading Harriers Clubs in America.

U.S. FEEDS FIFTH MORE CHILDREN THAN EXPECTED

(Reuter's Service)

London, Dec. 7.—Announcement was made today that the American relief commission in Russia is feeding 1,200,000 children, 10 percent more than was originally planned. The commission is also giving medical aid to the famine sufferers.

According to the plans of the commission they will carry on their work until September of next year, though it is unlikely that they will be unable to bring more than a small portion of the sufferers through the winter.

MILLION BABIES DOOMED

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow, Dec. 3.—In the Tartar Republic over 999,276 children have no food. Over 20 percent of the children are sick, and the death-rate is not less than 20 percent. There is a great need in medicine.

In the Samara Province over 1,000,000 children are receiving no food. A representative of the American Famine Relief Committee has found the corpses of eleven children and of a nurse in an infant hospital.

As a result of the famine in the Czuvash Province, sicknesses are raging severely. During twenty days there were discovered 4,491 cases of sick people. The demand for surgical instruments and bedding is acute. The idea of transferring 50,000 starving people to the richer provinces was receiving with great enthusiasm.

CZECHS WILL AID

Moscow, Dec. 3.—Mr. Kalinin, Chairman of the Central Executive Committee, has been directed to ratify the agreement with the Government of Czech-Slovakia providing for the dispatch of children from the famine-stricken areas to Czech-Slovakia.

CHITA AIDS REFUGEES

Chita, Dec. 4.—The Council of Ministers has appropriated 5,000 gold rubles for the famine refugees who have come to the Far Eastern Republic from Soviet Russia.

Warwick Company Aids Poles Tonight

The Lyceum Theater will be given over tonight to the cause of charity, when the Warwick Comedy Company will present Cyril Harcourt's delightful comedy "A Place in the Sun." The profits arising from the performance will be handed over to the Polish Relief Fund, and Madame Krzyworjenski, of the Russo-Asiatic Bank, has been disposing of the tickets at charity prices during the past ten days. A very limited number remain, and these may be booked at Moutrie's today in the ordinary way at three dollars. The two and one dollar seats will be on sale as usual.

"A Place in the Sun," which will serve to re-introduce Mr. Edgar Warwick in a leading part after many months of semi-retirement, will undoubtedly make a strong appeal to Shanghai audiences. Miss Gertrude F. Godart will play the leading part of Marjory Capel, which alone is sufficient guarantee that the play will be well up to the high standard set by the popular company.

The play will be repeated tomorrow night.

HSIN KIANGTEEN HAS SUCCESSFUL TRIAL CRUISE

The twin-screw steamer Hsin Kiangteen, built and engined by the Shanghai Dock and Engineering Co., Ltd., to the order of the China Merchants Steam Navigation Company, for service between Shanghai and Ningpo, successfully ran her official trials on Wednesday outside Woosung.

As mentioned in a previous issue, the Hsin Kiangteen measures 310 feet long by 48 feet moulded breadth and 23 feet depth to upper deck and is propelled by two independent sets of triple expansion surface condensing engines; the passenger accommodation is large and luxuriously furnished, and the vessel throughout is fitted with the most up to date fittings and requirements of a modern steamer for Chinese and foreign passengers.

She left the Old Dock at 11 a.m. with a large party of guests on board and proceeded down the river to the official measured mile outside Woosung, where her speed trials were run. After being successfully tried for maneuvering qualities the Hsin Kiangteen returned to Shanghai, reaching the C.M.S.N. Co Ningpo Wharf Kinleeyuen at 5 p.m., the trials having proved entirely successful in every respect.

The appearance and finish of the vessel are up to the dock company's usual high standard of excellence and drew forth most favorable comments from all on board.

fellowship amongst all members, is unquestionable. Those of the unit who were prevented from attending Camp this year will have an opportunity of being present next and enjoying their comprades a most pleasant and profitable week-end.

The company commander has received a message of thanks from the Committee of the St. Andrew's Society for the great assistance rendered it by the party of stewards from the Unit in contributing materially towards the great success of the ball.

2-Lieut. R. Wood rather stole a march on the Unit by quietly taking unto himself a bride and slipping off with his charming wife to the wonders of Peking, almost before we had time to realise. Our warmest congratulations to the happy pair and our best wishes for their future.

The Unit is losing the services of Sergeant Latimer who is proceeding home at short notice this week. To him we wish "Bon Voyage" and all good luck.

He's Not Certain, But Anyway He's Out Of Luck

Shigery Aoki, a Japanese bonesetter, formerly a cashier for the Naigai Cotton Co., was arrested here Wednesday at the instance of the Fukuoka police for distributing literature calculated to endanger the public peace, according to the Shanghai Nippo. The literature which Aoki is alleged to have sent out and also a circular letter sent by him to various offices here contain some eccentric philosophy.

The leaflet, large numbers of which fell into the hands of the Fukuoka authorities, advocates the following steps toward the remedying of the world's ills: that the boundaries of nations be removed and sovereigns be abolished; that each nation govern itself; that armies and navies be entirely done away with; that money be abolished and the people be given the right to live anywhere they please; that private ownership of land be refused recognition; that all nations fall under one government to be established at the most convenient spot.

The circular letter, entitled "Self Burial," reads as follows:

"When I finish this draft I shall have parted from my principle. I am ashamed to find that I have lived and wasted my time without having done anything. I do not know even where my spirit will go. It may be reduced to one of the five elements. Am I walking in the path of light or am I a butterfly or a Chwang Chow? I do not know myself what I am."

Lost Battalion's Colonel Goes To Last Resting Place

(Special To The China Press)

New York, Dec. 7.—Col. Charles W. Whittlesly, famous commander of the Lost Battalion in the world war who committed suicide by jumping into the ocean from a steamer bound for Havana on November 28, was buried here with simple but impressive ceremonies.

Col. Whittlesly was the commander of the little band of heroes that sent word to the Germans to "Go to Hell" when they were completely surrounded by the enemy in Belleau Wood and asked to surrender.

Depressed and brooding over the heavy losses of his command his taunt nerves snapped after he had attended services for the Unknown American Warrior at Arlington Cemetery and he jumped into the sea "to end it all."

Mixed Court Condemns 'Key Money' Payments

Expressing strong disapproval of the practice of requiring key-money from new tenants and ordering that no further increases in rentals be made affecting the properties concerned, Mixed Court Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Kwan yesterday dismissed an action brought by the Tenants' Guild of the Dau Yoen Faung against Daung Tse-ding, landlord of some 182 houses situated on the alleyway named.

The petition asked that the Court fix a reasonable rental and grant an injunction restraining defendant's agents and collectors from intimidating or threatening the tenants.

The Tenants' Geild was represented by Mr. P. W. Goldring, who called witnesses to testify as to a recent rent increase. The increases, he maintained, were not uniform for houses of similar class, new tenants having to pay a much higher rental. The increases, he contended, ranged from 25 to 80 percent.

SAYS RISE IS NOTHING

Mr. G. H. Wright, appearing for the defendant, declared that the statement as to percentage of increases was misleading, as in only four cases was the increase as much as 50 percent and these were special cases. He contended that such an increase was nothing; it was such an increase as he himself had to pay. The practice of taking key money, he defended as one in operation in England.

In giving judgment the Court said: "The notice that the rent was to be raised was given to tenants before the date of our notification. We would nevertheless grant the tenants relief were we satisfied that the proposed increases gave the landlord an unreasonable return on the investment. After examination, however, we are not satisfied that the increase is oppressive and extortionate as alleged in the petition, which is accordingly dismissed.

HITS AT KEY MONEY

"We do not consider that new tenants should be required to pay more than other tenants of similar classes of houses and we will give no official recognition to the practice of taking key money, of which we strongly disapprove. No further increase will be permitted as long as our notification remains in force."

The notification referred to is that issued by the Mixed Court recently to the effect that ejectment or sealing orders will not be granted without the appearance of the parties and the satisfaction of the court that it is not a measure to enforce higher rent payments.

Another rent case set for hearing yesterday but adjourned owing to lack of time concerned the petition brought by the landlord of British Consular lot 4844 asking permission to increase the rates on houses on that lot. The petitioner is one Loo Mo-ching, representing the E'h Kyi Co., rent office, 667A Haining Road. The petition states that there are 26 houses on the lot, Chinese dwellings renting at $9 per month and Japanese at $7. It declares that there has been only one increase in the past ten years and that the present return does not meet the interest and cost of upkeep. In the 9th moon tenants were informed of an increase of $2, to which they objected. The petitioner asks that the increase be allowed.

American Community Asked For Suggestions On School

The Building Committee of the Shanghai American School is hard at work with the architects on the plans for the new buildings. The committee has decided that the public will be taken into its confidence and asked to give suggestions which may be helpful.

Below is printed the preliminary program of requirements as adopted. The American community is invited to study these requirements and to send criticisms or suggestions to the Principal, Willard W. Bartlett, 147 North Szechuen Road. The Building Committee is composed of the following: Mr. T. E. Doremus, Chairman; Mr. J. H Black, Mr. C. L. Seitz, Dr. J. T. Proctor, Mr. W. W. Lockwood, Mr. F. J. Raven, Mr. A. R. Hager and Mr. V. G. Lyman.

PROGRAM OF REQUIREMENTS

No special preference has been expressed in regard to the style of architecture to be used, except that it is not to be Chinese. It is probable that the school will be either in some form of Scholastic Gothic, or possibly Georgian, the idea being to give it as much as possible the appearance of a "home-side" school. In fact, the whole development, including the school, the auditorium the residences, and the lay-out of the grounds, is to be so planned as to make the whole section look like a portion of America.

ALL FIRE-PROOF

Semi-fire-proof construction is to be used for all walls, bearing and non-bearing, and for all floors. Roofs will probably be either of slate or of flat tile. Sewage disposal will be by septic tanks. So-called "hospital finish" is to be used through the buildings, with a minimum of interior woodwork, elimination of mouldings which hold dust, and the use of small coves for junctions between floor and base throughout. It is permissible to use three stories for the school buildings and the dormitories; no basement space will be required. All rooms will be so planned as to have a draft of air completely through. Partitions with expanded metal at top to be considered. All doors to swing out and ample fire escapes to be provided. Sleeping quarters for one servant in each building.

It is planned to spend at the start in the first buildings and equipment for the school development not over Tls. 267,000, not including land. In this connection, it is desired that home-side standards should be used, following medium rather than the most expensive of the American Institutions.

Following is the list of buildings contemplated, those marked with an asterisk to be built at once:

*1.—Junior High School—three stories—for 350 pupils, to be built at once.

2.—Primary School — two stories—for 350 pupils.

3.—High School—three stories—for 350 pupils. (Main building in final scheme).

*4.—A Dining hall for 500, with connected building which will be kitchen and storage, so planned that one half may be built at first.

PLAN FOUR DORMITORIES

*5.—Four dormitories, two for girls and two for boys. Each to be made up of four sections, each section accommodating approximately thirty or thirty-two students, two in a room, and two to four teachers. Two sections of a boys' dormitory and three sections of a girls' dormitory to be built at once.

6.—Dining room and dormitories to be connected by covered way, and if possible the High School and Junior High to be also connected.

*7.—Combined Manual Training building and heating plant for main buildings. Heating plant to be built at once.

8.—A gymnasium.

9.—Outdoor swimming pool.

10.—Principal's residence with garage.

11.—Two other residences with garages.

12.—An infirmary with quarter for doctor's family, dentist's family and for nurse.

13.—Teachers' house.

*14.—Servants' quarters on remote section of campus, place building for five or six families with small yard, servants' mess and kitchen.

15.—Gateman's house.

16.—Home Economics Cottage.

17.—Quarter mile running track with 240 yard straightaway and bleachers; Baseball diamond and grand stand.

18.—Three tennis courts near teachers' house.

19.—Basket ball courts—four.

20.—Playground near primary school, with swing, slide, see-saws, horizontal bar, swinging rings, sand piles, etc.

21.—If possible, small baseball diamond for little boys.

22.—Odd corners for school gardens.

TO CARE FOR 1,000

At present, there are about 225 pupils. The first group of new buildings is to be planned to accommodate a total of 350 students, and the ultimate total is set as one thousand students. Below is a table—analysis (based on notes prepared the 7th of April, 1920, by Mr. Boynton) showing the number of students expected in the various departments, at successive stages of the school's growth:

REMAND MURRAY CASE

The case of W. F. Murray, charged with theft of a motorcycle owned by Mr. W. E. Dissmeyer, was remanded by American Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Tsang in the Mixed Court yesterday to permit further investigation of the question of the defendant's citizenship.

Murray claims to be a British subject and has a birth certificate issued by a British consul, but he is not registered and the British Police Court refused to hear the case. If no further light is thrown on the matter the case will come before the British Assessor next Monday.

Low Value Of Ruble Is Not Worrying Soviets

(Rosta News Agency)

Moscow (by mail), November 4.—Below is the conclusion of the report in the new financial policy of the Soviet Government presented by the Commissar of Finance, Mr. Krestinsky, at a meeting of responsible Government workers:

Money Circulation.—In the second part of his report Mr. Krestinsky dealt with the question of money circulation, which is characterised by a very serious scarcity explaining the scarcity is due to purely technical reasons.

"In drawing up the production scheme of the state press for 1921," he said, "we allowed ourselves to be led by the experience of 1920, and failed to see several new factors which led to an extraordinary increase in the demand for paper currency. One of these factors was the exchange of goods.

"At present we have a circulation of from three to three and a half billion rubles. If we reduce this quantity to its worth in gold rubles and then compare it with the paper circulation in 1914, we see that the paper circulation then was ten times larger than at present. The requirement of the state in paper money for 1921 was calculated at seven billion rubles, but, in consequence of the change in tariff and the general economic policy, not seven but twenty-two billions are needed.

"It is difficult to find immediate remedy but suitable measures are being taken, although the currency shortage cannot be difinitely dealt with till 1922.

"Purchasing Power of Soviet Money: The frantic downward rush of the paper ruble has two reasons: the scarcity of commodities and the increased omission of paper money. In order to stabilise the monetary system these two causes must be removed. In proportion to the extension of free trade, the demand for paper money grows and the new economic policy has somewhat neutralised the first cause.

"The second reason for the sinking purchasing power of the ruble, can be explained by the fact that more paper currency was put into circulation than was demanded by the economic conditions. Now that the demand for currency notes is large, a certain increase of the purchasing may be observed. This plays a very insignificant part in remedying matters, and in order to settle the question, the issuance of paper currency must be limited.

"The banks completely disappeared during the revolution and the state bank hardly did any business. The peasantry and the small industries delivered their entire produce to the state, so that all demand for credit ceased. At present a demand for banks undoubtedly exists: (1) for storing the enormous sums accumulated by individuals, and (2) for advancing credits to private trade and private industry. The state is interested in advancing credits to the factories no longer operated under state cost, as this will lead to the increase of production through private initiative.

"The Commissarist of Finance is now busily organising the state bank as a unique organ for financing enterprises. The bank soon will begin to function and will have branches in the larger provincial towns. This is no concession to small bourgeoisie ideas, but a logical consequence of the economic policy.

"In what measure will the new economic course be realised and what results will it give? Much depends on whether we will succeed in getting help from western Europe in the form of loans or concessions. Even if no foreign concessions come, we need no lose courage. On the whole, our industry can work provided it is supplied with the necessary materials.

"We must shove everything into the background if it is not of primary importance, and concentrate all our forces on a few enterprises which we must work to the utmost. We must concentrate, not scatter our forces. From extensive economy we must pass on to intensive economy. Then we can look into the future with confidence, for our success is assured."

The Unexpurgated Diary Of A Shanghai Baby
By Elsie McCormick

"The Unexpurgated Diary of a Shanghai Baby" is a record of housekeeping trials in the Far East, as seen from the standpoint of the perambulator. Anyone who has lived in Shanghai will recognise these unfailing little eccentricities of houseboys, cooks, coolies and amahs.
The book will amuse you now and will keep you reminded of your experiences after you have returned home. Copies are on sale at leading bookstores and in the office of THE CHINA PRESS.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

December 8, 1921

Spot bar silver was down 1-4d. and forward 1-8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price declined to 66¼ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 408¼.

The only changes in the official quotations today were a drop in the Yen rate to 64¾ and a rise in the Franc rate to 990.

The market during the forenoon was easy, business in Sterling being done as low as 3-7½ for December, 3-6½ for January and 3-6 for February.

Gold Dollars were done as low as 74½ for December, 73½ for January and 72½ for February.

In the afternoon, however, rates steadied up considerably, speculators becoming sellers, as high as 3-8 for December, 3-7⅛ for January and 3-6¼ for February.

The market closed steady, with buyers and sellers at these rates.

Advices received from London and New York report the silver markets there as being weak, and the price, therefore, is likely to go lower.

Settlement Of The Irish Question

THE settlement of the Irish question constitutes one of the greatest triumphs in British political history. Inability of successive British statesmen to give Ireland the form of administration which it demanded, led to the sanguinary state of affairs which horrified the whole world till the recent negotiations brought about the armistice; but had an impasse resulted, as at one stage of the proceedings appeared likely, then the unhappy condition of things would have recurred.

Fortunately, better councils have prevailed, and today the world is rejoicing in the knowledge that at last Ireland is to have the type of executive that will satisfy the longings of its people. Great Britain would not have been troubled with the Irish question could its people have followed the advice of the late Mr. Gladstone. That great statesman saw that Ireland could only be satisfied by permitting the people the same privileges of administration, which the Dominions were enjoying; but, owing to mistrust of the Irish, his fellow countrymen would not allow the Bills he introduced into the House of Commons to become law. In consequence, the Irish people grew more and more discontented.

Finally, Mr. Asquith, when occupying the Premiership, realised that Ireland's demands for self-government could no longer be ignored, and he passed a Home Rule Bill. Unfortunately the war interfered with this plan; and, when Irishmen understood that there was a serious possibility of their demands not being realised, the regrettable circumstances, culminating in their country's becoming nothing but an armed camp, patrolled by military from Great Britain, were brought about. It was soon seen that, even with a force of military greater than that which the British Government sent to France in the early weeks of the war, law and order could not be maintained in Ireland, and the state of affairs grew so bad as to belie accurate description.

Irishmen appeared unable to agree upon a form of government, for Ulster refused to enter the Union. The Government under the direction of Mr. Lloyd George did its best to legislate, but its scheme, which came into operation last year, did not commend itself to the Sinn Fein Party. At last, in response to the appeal made by the Government through the person of the King, the present negotiations were commenced; and, after somewhat protracted proceedings, they have culminated in the present agreement. Time alone will show how the agreement will work, but there can be no question but that it will prove successful. The people of the British Empire have long been heart sick over the Irish question. They also have realised how seriously it affected the prestige of their government. Much of the misunderstanding of Great Britain was traceable to her inability to settle the difficulty of Ireland's administration. Thanks to the efforts of statesmen like the present Prime Ministers of South Africa and Great Britain, and to the generous attitude of President De Valera, Ireland is now to manage its own affairs. It is in reality independent of the Government at Westminster; while, at the same time, the country acknowledges its allegiance to the Crown. Ireland therefore remains a portion of the British Empire.

What has been agreed upon is in reality a compromise. The Sinn Feiners have not insisted upon their extreme demands. They have been willing to forego something in the interests of peace. This, in itself, indicates their ability to manage Ireland and to be entrusted with the authority that they have claimed Irishmen should have been permitted to exercise long before this. The British Government, too, has realised that at last it could no longer control Ireland from London, and the unhappy plan of governing a nation which detested the Act, which robbed it of its privilege of having its Parliament in the capital of its own country, has now been terminated. Ulster we do not doubt will find that the future success of Ireland, and her own prosperity, will depend very largely upon her willingness to accept the Dublin Parliament. She will find that separation from it will eventually hamper her trade and prosperity, while any opposition to the agreement which satisfies the bulk of Irishmen would meet with no support in the United Kingdom. There is not a single political party today with any possibility of success that would go to the country in a General Election on the subject of revoking the understanding entered into between the Government and the Sinn Feiners.

The Morning Post commands no support. Its opinions are those of a very small class, which is rapidly coming to realise that it no longer exercises the power in the country that its forebears did. The Morning Post has no influence in the country. Its opinions are merely amusing.

Ireland, for the first time in its history, has now an opportunity to make good. There is every hope that it will become a contented portion of the British Empire. It will no longer be the open sore that it has constituted right in the heart of the Empire. And, if the present Premier should be forced to the country for a mandate to support his plan, he would be returned to office by an even greater majority than that which was given to him at the last General Election.

There may be a few of the old conservatives who will pretend that the Government has commenced the work of wrecking the Empire, but they will find very few to follow them. The country will support Premier Lloyd George and will be profoundly grateful to him for thus making another tremendous and far reaching contribution to the British Empire's future stability, success and prosperity.

Japanese Now Seek Wider Suffrage

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, Dec. 5—There is every possibility that the movement for universal suffrage in Japan will result this year in the adoption of a bill to this end, according to the statement of a prominent Japanese today. It is believed that the fight will be opened immediately after the reconvening of the Japanese Diet, after the New Year's holiday.

Since the death of Premier Hara, which deprived the Seiyukai party of its leader, there has been in evidence preparations of the main opposition party, the Kenseikai, as well as the other minor groups, to launch an attack upon the party in power, and make good the advantage that the death of Hara had given them.

The lines of this fight, according to the Japanese interviewed, will be the bill for the adoption of universal suffrage. The bill that was defeated some time ago by the Government party, failed, it is said, because of the fact that it did not outline in a clear-cut manner the universality of the suffrage that was demanded.

The bill provided that suffrage should be extended to all males over a certain age, but included the clause that these persons should "be independent." This was enough to forfeit for the bill the support of many, and it was defeated by the Government party.

This year, however, it is considered probable that the bill will be reintroduced, without the "be independent" clause and it is certain that in this form it will be passed by the diet. Signs are not wanting already that there is a split in the ranks of the Government party, whose younger and more liberal members realise that this bill is going to be a popular one, and that to oppose it will be to forfeit a large measure of popularity, especially in as much as they favor the movement for universal suffrage themselves.

The World's Debts

BY THE SPECTATOR

Few of us realise the enormous and apparently hopeless debts of the world.

The great war has come pretty near bankrupting humanity.

Each nation that took part in the big kill fest borrowed, in the first place, millions of dollars from its own people. Then it went abroad and borrowed to the limit.

No effort has been made to pay off these debts for the last three years, except in the case of certain short term obligations, and, even these have been settled in the time-honored way of borrowing from Peter to pay Paul.

The world's indebtedness to America is (and in all these statements only approximate figures are used) ten thousand million dollars.

Of this Great Britain owes around four thousand million and France around three thousand million.

Other nations owe Great Britain around six thousand million.

And practically no effort is being made to pay off any of these debts.

That means that millions and millions of new debts are piling up every year in the form of unpaid interest.

Although no officials will say so, yet the present condition practically amounts to a universal moratorium.

While the nations all owe America, the situation is not so simple as that might imply, for they all owe each other, besides being in debt to their own people.

The matter is highly complicated and full of the elements of danger.

America is getting to be the best hated country in the world, for it is human nature to think unkindly of anybody who lends you money. Nobody has any business being richer than you, and if he is, and you have to borrow from him, it is mighty easy to think he is crooked.

Here is a rough sketch of the situation: Britain owes America about four thousand million dollars; France, about three thousand millions; Italy, one thousand million; Belgium, 280 millions; Russia, 148 millions; and the rest of the world some 200 millions, and none of them are making any sort of motion which might be construed as a sign of coming across.

At the same time Britain is owed 7,790 million dollars, of which Russia and France each owe over two thousand millions; Italy, under two thousand millions; Belgium, 400 millions; Serbia, 88 millions; the British Dominions, 576 millions, and other nations 324 millions.

None of which is being paid, not even the interest.

The entire debt of each country, if parcelled out among its citizens, that is, per capita, would be: France, 816 dollars; England, 640 dollars; Italy, 320 dollars, and the U. S. A., 272 dollars.

Mixed up as this is, it is made worse by the chaotic condition of exchange.

There is no fixed standard of value. A French franc worth ordinarily around twenty cents before war fluctuates to a value of but seven or eight cents. An Italian lire worth twenty cents when borrowed may be worth but four cents when it is to be paid. And a British pound sterling may sink from $5 to four or less.

For instance, if Britain undertook to pay the United States the 972 million pounds ($3,988,000,000) she owes, she would, owing to the fall in exchange, have to pay actually 1,300,000,000 pounds ($5,200,000,000). Here is $1,212,000,000 added to her debt for which she got nothing at all.

The same thing is true with the other countries to even greater degree.

If France took a notion to pay her nominal debt she would discover that it takes over twice as much money to pay them as their face calls for. Italy would have to pay three times as much, and the other nations more still.

Now debt paying, like death, cannot be evaded forever. And the longer debts live the bigger and uglier they grow.

It is difficult to see any way out. And there is something even more difficult than that, and that is to find a way out that the various nations will consent to.

THE FLAPPER GETS ANGRY

(The papers have again been attacking the flapper and her little ways)

It appears I'm again in hot water;
They say I've a horrible style.
That I'm just a degenerate daughter,
That my manners and morals are vile!
So fat-headed fathers haranguë me,
Delighting to talk through their hats;
But the ones who are keenest to slang me
Are the Elderly Feminine Cats!

When I wear my delectable undies
That make such a palpable hit,
A thousand and one Mrs. Grundies
Go off the deep end in a fit!
If I show but a yard of silk stocking
When mounting an omnibus, "that's Disgraceful, salacious, and shocking,"
Cry the Elderly Feminine Cats!

I'd sooner be shocking than shabby;
My morals to theirs I prefer;
And I'm longing to tell every Tabby
My candid opinion of her!
So if later I turn very ratty,
And I own I am feeling so now,
Should you ask how I came to be catty—
Well, the Cats have instructed Me-'ow!

"Don't Ever Marry."

Today -:- By Arthur Brisbane

Save money, put it at compound interest, for your children's sake.

Joseph S. McCoy, Government actuary, has prepared for Frank Munsey's Herald exact figures on what $1 might have meant to Methuselah, had the dollar been invested at 6 percent, compound, when Methuselah was twenty-one. When Methuselah died, aged 969, the single dollar would have grown to more than 977 sextillions of dollars, a sum shown in twenty-four figures. We cannot conceive such a sum. The interest on it, for part of a second, would pay off the whole world's war debts.

There will be rich families in America one hundred years from now, if nothing interferes with compound interest. Many could start today with a nest egg of ten to one hundred millions.

Dr. Hennen, "prominent, six feet three, prosperous," etc., has found, like other men, that women lack understanding of the finer shades of masculine emotion. Says he, of his wife, "Mrs. Hennen understood everything until I asked her to get a divorce, because I wanted to marry another woman. Then she got mad."

Unreasonable Mrs. Hennen, and how many there are like her. Dr. Hennen is related by marriage to the Vanderbilt family, which makes his views all the more important. At the critical moment Mrs. Hennen died—she was reasonable in that, anyhow. Everything will go smoothly, unless the next Mrs. Hennen also proves unreasonable when she reaches forty-five.

How, where would you like to be buried, "Low by the beach, almost within the wild ocean's reach," or "Under a slab of granite so gray" like Ben Bolt's Sweet Alice?

Some like to be scattered in ashes from the Liberty statue—she must be tired of that. Napoleon lies under the gilt dome of the Invalides, with his marshals around him.

For the great Alexander was planned a statue of himself carved from a mountain of rock so big that a city could be built in the outstretched hand.

Sarah Bernhardt has a good idea. She has bought a small, deserted, rocky island in the stormy Bay of Biscay, where Foch's Basque ancestors developed their courage hunting whales three thousand yeors ago. On that island, which has a little harbor on the land side, Bernhardt will build a white Carrara marble statue of herself, with arms outstretched. A light shining from the head at night will invite her neighbors, the fishermen, to come in from the stormy waters. You could hardly suggest a better idea. She is making the statue herself.

Man lives in the infinite, and fusses in the finite, hence two things interest him—bigness and littleness. Anybody would walk a long way to see the biggest whale in the world, and as far to see the new shrew mouse, smallest mammal on our continent, just captured by agents of the Marshall Field Museum.

It is as big as a bumble bee, knows as much as the average animal, has several children at a time, and will gladly die for any one of them. It has a perfect arrangement of heart, lungs, liver, brain and all the rest. Nothing is big, nothing is little. In one corner of that mouse's eye a million livings things can find room to live, breed and die.

Lewiston, Maine, is excited about a child healer, three years old. The young lady, Charlotte Lariver, touches the suffering person, "laps a short prayer," and the suffering ends. Coughs, colds, burns, toothache have been cured, and Grandma Thibault, old and once bent with rheumatism, now stands straight and cured.

All this affords intense satisfaction to many, profit to a few, probably, and no harm is done, except that a small group absorb an additional dose of superstition.

If you meet Harry M. Phillips, from Mexico, do not avoid him. He went to the mines penniless, now has so much money, says he, that he is tired of looking at it.

As he travels he scatters ten and twenty dollar bills about because he is tired of seeing so many sober faces.

Mr. Phillips would be surprised to know how much more sober those faces will be, after they have spent the accidental money, easily got. The difficulty with good nature and charity is a weakening of the human mainspring that makes work harder than ever.

Ask the sons of rich men, when poverty comes, or Charles of Hapsburg, without money to pay for the flying machine that took him on his latest foolish errand.

new steamers yesterday evening. The first steamship, the Changsha, built to the order of the China Navigation Company at the Taikoo Docks, is equipped to meet the latest requirements of trade on the Upper Yangtze. Mrs. Shaw christened the Changsha. The second, an oil-tanker, the Peyricola, was launched at Kowloon.

The Chairman of the Delegation, in a speech, said: "We came here to learn and see humbly how you have been able to do things and hope to go home wiser and better able to supplement and complement over there on the Far Western seaboard of the United States the things you have been able to do so well on this side of the Pacific."

DISCOVERER OF MINE ARRESTED ON FRAUD CHARGE

The charge against him recalls the sensation of August 1920, caused in the Melbourne Stock Exchange by the continuous heavy fall of shares of the property on adverse reports.

Mr. Orton is then reported to have said that he was prepared to return to the mine and obtain results similar to those he had previously, as he believed the property had been wrongly treated, but the Commonwealth authorities are reported to have withdrawn his passport pending enquiries.
